Information for people who have had close contact with a person with meningococcal disease caused by a vaccine-preventable serogroup

Dear staff member

You have been identified as a person who has been in contact with someone who was recently diagnosed with meningococcal disease. You should already have been prescribed antibiotics to help clear any carriage of the meningococcal bacteria from your nose and throat. Tests now show that the infection was caused by a strain called serogroup W.

Because the strain is one that is preventable by vaccination, it is also strongly recommended that you see your doctor at the next available opportunity to be vaccinated with meningococcal ACWY vaccine (Nimenrix). This vaccine is free for higher risk contacts and may be obtained from your GP who will have the vaccine as part of their routine stock. The vaccine is not recommended for those aged less than two years and you do not require the vaccine if you have been vaccinated with this vaccine in the past three years.

The vaccine takes about two weeks to work and does not cover all strains of meningococcal disease. This means that you should be alert for the signs and symptoms of meningococcal disease and seek medical attention promptly if these occur.

Please take this letter with you when you visit your general practitioner. If you or your GP require further information, please ring the Camperdown Public Health Unit on 9515 9420.

Yours sincerely
